See Us. Respect Us. Listen to Our Voices.
The Evolution of the Statewide A Life Like Yours Self-Advocacy Alliance Background

The achievements of this project belong to a wide range of leaders committed to a world in which people with developmental disabilities are respected and valued as the voices to lead policy and systems that support people to have the life that they choose.

Over two years, many people engaged with The Arc of Virginia and contributed to what would later become Virginia’s statewide A Life Like Yours Self-Advocacy Alliance.
In addition to the team at The Arc of Virginia working on this project, we collaborated with Lalenja Harrington, PhD and Jamie Liban of Liban Consulting, to facilitate and support Liaisons in their work. Dr. Harrington consulted for multiple creative and collaborative planning events, and Liban Consulting provided facilitation and leadership development to the Liaisons for the 6 months that would turn out to be the most significant time for the Alliance due to the impact of COVID-19.

The efforts of project facilitators and Liaisons, resulted in a strong and successful Alliance of self-advocacy groups possessing the knowledge, information and skills to advocate for inclusive support for Virginians with developmental disabilities.
Why Form an Alliance of Self-Advocates?

The purpose of forming an Alliance is to ensure that the voices of people with disabilities are the primary force for effecting change in Virginia.
How Did the Alliance Start?

The A Life Like Yours Self-Advocacy Alliance evolved out of the grassroots self-advocacy movement, beginning in August of 2018 at the Annual Convention of The Arc of Virginia.

This is us… beautifully divine
We live
in the community
having a vision
for everyone
paving the way for our future that gives us victory
at the end of the day
that lets us live
in a healthy way
helping people
live a life like yours
in the community

a life like
living water
raining down
tears of joy glorious
there’s power in all of us speaking for ourselves
to change
the world
beautifully divine

Seizing the opportunity to expand on what self-advocates had begun to build at the convention, The Arc of Virginia secured funding to form a Statewide Alliance of Self-Advocacy Groups so that the voices of people with developmental disabilities are the primary force for effecting change in Virginia.
